A Present For Mother is Grand!
(but it isn't enough)

A guest once complimented one of New York's richest men on his house full of servants. The millionaire replied: "There isn't a single job these people do that my own mother didn't do better when I was a boy."

Today, as any teen ager knows, mother is chauffeur, message taker, trained nurse, cheer-upper, meal planner and secret keeper of the whole family. When the cleaner doesn't deliver she'll iron a party dress for sister and save the day. She keeps little brother from tossing that pitcher of lemonade at Susie. Between times she picks up after everybody, gets the dishes washed and the beds made, the thank-you notes written that we should write ourselves. Her tireless industry makes father look like a loafer; her example keeps us all from being bums.

In a word, she's a wonderful woman and a great little gal.

Of course we know you're going to buy mother the very nicest present you can afford for Mother's Day. Everyone does. But that's not enough. Give it to her personally. Give her the hug and the kiss that go with it. And plan now to spend that Mother's Day Sunday WITH mother: on a quiet drive—at a movie—out to dinner—or at home in the easy paced talk that she and all mothers love with their boys and girls. If she's out of town and you can't make a visit, sit down now and start that long letter that will gladden her heart. Or arrange to surprise her with a long distance call. So, whatever you do, make this Mother's Day the happiest she has ever known!

THE ROMANCE OF TWINE

Cutting raw material from which International baler and binder twine is made. On Harvester plantations in Cuba native workers cut only choice henequen leaves.

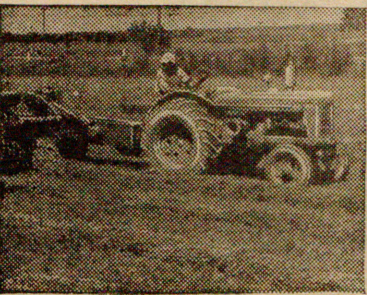

Fiber is extracted from henequen leaves in a decorticating mill, dried in the sun, then baled and shipped to twine mills in Chicago and Hamilton, Ontario, Can.

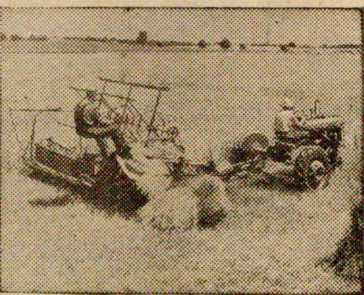

Combining the "silver" on one of 8 combining machines in the twine mill. The "silver" is made by a careful blending of just the right amount of selected hard fibers.

Putting on crisscross binder twine cover allows farmers to use the ball to the end without binder twine. All International Harvester twine is treated to resist mildew, rot, insect and rodent damage.

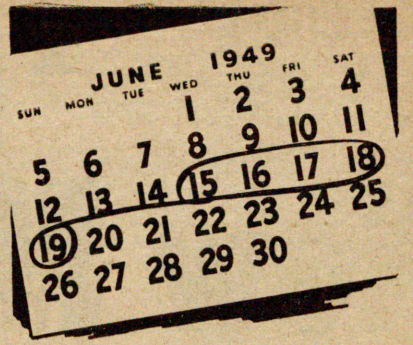

Hay baling uses a larger proportion of total twine production every year. Here triple-testing for strength, length and weight pays off in fast, smooth baling operation.

The development of the self-tying binder required a uniform, dependable, easy-running binder twine, and created a new demand for hard fibers. Thus began the Romance of Twine.

Protection of Livestock

To protect livestock from lightning discharges received through wire fences, the fence should be grounded at intervals of 150 to 300 feet. Ground connections can be made by driving ½ inch galvanized-iron pipe into the ground to a depth of 4 or 5 feet and tying it to the fence with wire. The electrical continuity should also be broken up at intervals of 1,000 feet by cutting the wires and inserting short lengths of seasoned wood or other insulating material.

Why farmers switch to the GEHL FORAGE HARVESTER

Everybody who sees the Gehl operate acclaims its superior performance and greater value. Like those famous Gehl feed cutters and silo fillers used since the first silos came, Gehl Forage Harvester has a cutting mechanism that REALLY CUTS... clean, uniform and fast.

Works swell on windrowed hay or combined straw. Makes having an amazingly-fast job... saving time, men and money. One man operates it. Puts hay where you want it, and in half the space.

With row-crop attachment... makes the same savings in filling silos... makes silage that packs well and keeps well. Separate blower elevates forage to silo or any part of mow. Equipped with own engine, or with power take-off.

SHORT STORY

Magic Month

By DYER WILSON

HELEN AND ANDY weren't laughing. They were sitting in metal chairs which were placed at right angles to each other, instead of side by side on the glider, and the glow in their eyes was replaced by anger.

"The trouble is you have no ambition!" Helen was saying as her wide set gray eyes flashed signals. "You act lazy!" The long curls were given a toss as she got to her feet.

Andy got up too. He gave her the one sided smile he'd brought home from war with him and shrugged his heavy shoulders. Andy had blond curls, too—tight to his well shaped head and the merriest of hazel eyes. "You can say that again," he told Helen, "I act lazy, do I?" He thought: Well, that's that and I'll re-enlist and get as far from Hyville as possible.

When he got home the radio was playing jive and he wound one leg over the other and sat in the big green chair beside it. His mother came into the room and said, "aren't you going to look for a job today, son?"

As he worried for an answer the announcer interrupted the program to tell about a soap contest. "Five hundred dollars for first prize," he said, "just tell in twenty-five words why you like Sudzy-Soap best!"

"I'm trying to think up an entry for the contest, Mom," said Andy directing his hazel eyes up and grinning like an imp. "only I'll have to have the wrappers from three bars of the darned soap."

Andy Tyson tried not to understand that she inferred he had wasted too many afternoons. He made great work of wording his entry and addressed the envelope for mailing.

Habit turned his steps into the corner store where the fellows laughed and teased him about his entry. Half angry again he hurried out of the place and tossed the letter into the near-

In the three weeks that went by he didn't go near Helen nor did he look for a job. One day slipped into the next and a laxness seemed to hold him tight. He was marking time and getting more dissatisfied with every passing hour.

THE NIGHT, a day later, when he got home to find excitement in the very air and Mom holding out a telegram he ripped it open and nearly passed out. SUDZY-SOAP IS PROUD TO ANNOUNCE YOU WINNER OF FIRST PRIZE. STOP. LISTEN TO USAL SATURDAY PROGRAM. STOP. CONGRATULATIONS.

Next day Andy got a job. It was really easy. He felt so good — so proud of himself and ready for anything that came along he just went right after the mechanics job he saw advertised in the morning paper.

Saturday night the whole family gathered for the radio program telling of the contest and the winners.

He ripped the telegram open and nearly passed out.

"But I didn't win," Andy said helplessly when the program was over, "they didn't mention my name and that Robert Amherst won the five hundred dollars."

The door bell interrupted Andy and when the messenger boy gave him a telegram he glanced at it and ripped it open. "HOW DID IT FEEL TO BE A PRIZE WINNER FOR A FEW DAYS? STOP. THE BOYS."

Andy was half way out the door when Helen caught up with him, "where you going?" she asked.

"I'll bust those guys in the nose," Andy cried, "of all the dirty, low down tricks."

Helen laughed as she read the telegram. Tears rolled down her lovely cheeks and still she laughed. Andy couldn't help laughing with her.

"If they hadn't done it we'd still be angry with each other," she pointed out, "and you wouldn't have your job—and we wouldn't be planning on getting married."

Outstanding Herds
Named By Cow Tests

An announcement just received at the Farm Bureau office from the dairy department of the University of Illinois, reveals that Goodwin Bros. of Wilmington had nine cows producing 500 pounds or more of Butterfat in 1948. Other herd owners locally having five or more cows meeting these requirements were Louis H. Holm and Son of Mokena and Walter Lauffer of Tinley Park. Four hundred fifty cows in Illinois made this outstanding record last year in 181 herds.

The Illinois 500 butterfat cow club now in its twenty-sixth year continues, as in the past, to focus attention on outstanding cows in the state. Approximately 2500 cows have been nominated for the 1949 club.

Louis Lauffer of Mokena had the highest producing herd in Association No. 1 in February, according to the official report.

Owners of cows producing 500 pounds or more of butterfat last year, the total pounds of milk produced and the total pounds of fat are:

A recent report from Chris Madsen, supervisor of D. H. I. A. No. 2 reveals that feeding according to production, was worth from $6.00 to $96.00 a month to seventeen Will County dairymen who, at his suggestions, began using a feeding chart and fed their cows according to production. Before they began this practice they were wasting feed worth the savings indicated.

Observed 75th Year
Of Bowman Dairy Co.

Bowman Dairy Old Timers club celebrated the Company's 75th anniversary Wednesday. Among the names of those with the Company for many years, are several who are familiar to many in this territory when the Bowman Dairy had a plant in Mokena and Mr. Preston Hurd was manager.

In those days, the dairy did a good business here. The Mokena Wallpaper company now occupies what was then the plant of the Bowman Dairy company where they pasteurized a large quantity of milk each day. One Mokena man, August Pfeiffer, who was with the company at Mokena, went with them when they moved to Chicago and is still with them.

The Bowman Old Timers have records ranging from 25 to 59 years of continuous service and have a cumulative total of 16,329 years. Bowman president, Dr. D. B. Peck, has been with the dairy 43 years; M.T. Metzger vice president has 59 years of service; vice president, F. H. Kullman Jr., has a record of 34 years. H. Bowman treasurer, 28 years and E. J. Larson, Sales manager, is a 27 year Old Timer. Andrew Gartner Crystal Lake, Ill., Old Timer president has been a Bowman employee since December 16, 1917.

In commenting on Bowman's 75th birthday, Dr. Peck said, "We are deeply grateful to our customers for making this anniversary possible. Bowman has achieved a precious record of public service, and employee loyalty, as proven by our 553 Old Timers, is one of our proudest possessions. These facts combine to insure our future making it one of hope and promise."

More than half (51.4%) of the families in the U. S. haven't waited for a Federal housing agency to build them a home. They own their own. In fact, since the war began there has been an increase of 25% in home ownership.

A year ago, in 1947 for example, two million two hundred thousand people bought homes at an average price of $7500-$8500. 880,000 of these homes were purchased by veterans. Over 4/5 of a million of these new home owners earned less than $3000. per year.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Mark 11:27-12:44

DEVOTIONAL READING: Mark 12:1-12

Jesus And Critics

Lesson for May 8, 1949

DURING JESUS' last week, his enemies were firing at point-blank range. They were dead set to kill him; but they did not want to do that if they could ruin him some other way. What they tried to do was to make him out either a rascal or a fool, or both. Mark's story shows how Jesus took it.

Dr. Foreman

The first question they asked sounded perfectly fair. "Where did you get your authority?" As we saw last week, Jesus had assumed simply tremendous authority. Wasn't it fair to ask him where he got it?

The trouble was that the men who asked the questions didn't want to know. They only wanted to heckle Jesus.

The world is full of just such license-hunting snoopers as these. They do not like it when a man succeeds. They particularly do not like it when a man succeeds without their help.

"Who is this fellow anyway? Where did he get his start? What family does he have, where is his diploma?" Jesus never answered this question, because he knew why they asked it. (Mark 11:27-33.)

Taxes

IN JESUS TIME you could not vote either for more taxes, or less. You paid what the Roman soldier at your door said to pay, and you were thankful not to be poked in the ribs with his sword while you were fishing up the money. But no one dared to complain. The Romans had some deep dank dungeons for people who complained about high taxes. So the next question Jesus' enemies asked him was about taxes, or tribute, which means the same thing. They thought they had Jesus on a spot where whatever he said would put him in the wrong. Suppose he said: "Yes, pay taxes by all means." Then they would snarl: "Boot-licker of the Romans! Traitor to your country!" But if Jesus said, "No, don't pay taxes," then they would howl: "Treason! Police! Arrest this man who defies the Emperor!" Jesus' answer was a masterpiece, because he not only did not dodge the hot question, he did not leave the questioners a leg to stand on. (Mark 12:17).

Hairsplitters by Trade

THE CRITICS of Jesus were hairsplitters by trade. Yet none of them had ever been able to answer another tricky question with which they now expected to floor Jesus.

"Which is the greatest commandment of all?" The question had been going the rounds for generations. The greatest minds in Jewry had wrestled with it. But it was a foolish question after all.

Which is the most important brick in a wall? What position on a volley-ball team is the most important? What is the most important link in a chain? An answer to these questions would seem about as easy as answering that one about the greatest commandment. Jesus knew they were trying to show him up as a bungler, as a very poor and amateurish hairsplitter indeed. But instead, he did what no one expected him to do: he answered their question, and answered it so well that it is one of the cornerstones of our religion today.

How to Take Criticism

THE READER should consult Mark for the whole story. It bristles with practical thoughts, one of the most practical being how to take criticism. All of us can take it from our friends and families: we know they mean it for our own good. But criticism that is unfair from people who want only to show us up for fools or to get us into hot water—that is hard to take. Jesus should be our example.

He did not let other people's criticisms interfere with his work. He never avoided criticism. He did not "twist the lion's tail, he did not deliberately provoke criticism. But he would not claim exemption from what every one has to stand, being looked over and rated by the people who knew him.

He never broke his heart over what people said of him. He did not go around crying to himself.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eggert of Manhattan in St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet Saturday, April 30. He has been named Ralph Allan and weighed nine pounds, 14 ounces. The Eggerts are former Mokena residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fisher attended the re-burial services of the former's cousin, Ralph Bahnick in Le-mont last Saturday morning. Ralph was killed in action in Luzon three years ago.

Mrs. Andrew Wachter underwent surgery in St. Joseph's hospital Monday morning.

IN MEMORIAM

UNBEHAUN—John and Caroline. In loving memory of our parents, on Mother's and Father's day, John Unbehaun, Sr., who passed away June 4, 1914 and our mother Caroline, who passed away March 2, 1937.

ERNESTINE HOHENSTEIN, MRS. DANIEL C. LAUFFER, LOUISE and JOHN J. UNBEHAUN.

The Record to Date. Candidate Truman promised the voters that he would if elected, repeal the Taft-Hartley Act; prevent falling farm prices; pass the Civil Rights Bills, including FEPC; extend Rent Control two years; reenact legislation covering Price Control, Allocations, Priorities, and Rationing; pass a Fair Labor Standards Act; pass a Public Housing Act; and extend the Social Security program to include Socialized Medicine. After nearly four months what has he accomplished?

So far not one of these promises has been fulfilled, and it begins to look as though not one of them can be kept in full. President Truman will be lucky if he gets a greatly watered-down version of any of his promises. Certainly his request to increase taxes by $4 billion will be turned down flat.

What is wrong? Why cannot President Truman deliver? The 81st Congress is composed of 54 Democratic Senators and 42 Republican Senators; 263 Democratic Representatives and 171 Republican Representatives—a substantial working majority in each branch of the Congress. If the Democrats in Congress voted together they could pass President Truman's entire program. But President Truman's program is very largely a Socialistic program, and Jeffersonian Democrats do not believe in a Socialistic program. Today there is little if any difference between a Republican and a conservative Democrat in the face of a program that threatens to "hamstring private enterprise, discourage savings, and place the national economy in hands of government bureaucrats." So Jeffersonian Democrats team up with Republicans to block the march toward Socialism. The writer predicts that President Truman will have more reason to call the 81st Congress names when the record is complete than he had to call the 80th Congress names.

The Truman Depression. The Truman Depression is with us. It's seeds were planted last November when President Truman was elected on a Socialist platform that he swiped from Henry Wallace. Cutting the margin required on the Stock Market to 50 percent will not save us. The trouble is not one of dollars and cents, it is one of human emotions and faith in the future. What is needed to bring forth investment dollars is confidence in the government. Potential investors want assurance that whatever is earned in profits will not be branded as "ill gotten gains" and confiscated by punitive tax policies.

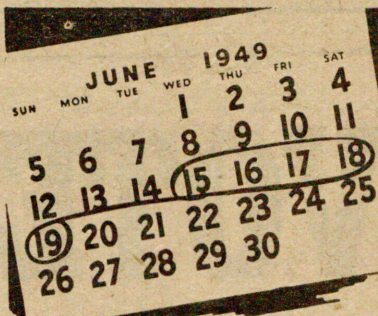

The way to get venture capital back into the investment market is to repudiate the Socialistic promises made by the President in his campaign speeches, and repeated as recommendations in his messages of last January to the Congress. This is a responsibility facing the 81st Congress. If Truman's socialized Medicine, his Socialized Public Housing, his greatly expanded Social Security Program, his request for power to control prices, make allocations, and establish priorities, his program for higher taxes, etc. are blocked by the 81st Congress, then and only then can we expect confidence in the future to start the flow of venture capital back into the investment market so it can be put to work producing the goods needed by a hungry consuming public.

The Truman Depression is growing in depth and scope. It is the direct result of the Truman program. Call it "Socialism," "redistribution of wealth," "economic democracy," "the era of the common man"—call it by any fancy name you will—it boils down to the impossible theory that everyone can live comfortably with no more exertion than voting himself a check from the government.

Under President Truman's program the creation of wealth through private initiative becomes immoral; and the chief function of government will be to take from the "haves" and give it to the "have nots". The question today is, "Will the 81st Congress be able to hold the line?"

to Marine Land with the playful porpoises, followed by a visit to Silver Springs to view under water scenes of fish and divers. Then on to see the colorful Seminole Indians and watch Ross Allen "Milking" poisonous rattlers. From there they go to Yellowstone and thrill to its rainbow falls and many wild animals, view Grand Canyon and visit the southwest Indian pottery makes and their Pueblos.

There will also be an opportunity to study the rare sea otter of the Pacific coast, and witness the hunting and processing of the largest living creatures - the whale. The tour will end with a trip across Mojave Desert and Death Valley with the Wilhelm Brothers in their famous "prowler" car.

These pictures have attracted audiences of several thousands wherever shown and receive overwhelming praise.

and had many unusual experiences. His scientific research and collecting included a series of 28 expeditions that extended from Alaska and Siberia to the jungles of Africa. He is a crack shot, not only killing big game with a rifle, but, on one occasion, an American bison with a bow and arrow.

As a photographer of wild life, he was awarded first prize in an international competition on outdoor photography.

After graduating from Iowa State university, he served successively as a faculty member of the University of Washington, as curator of zoological exhibits in the State Museum in Seattle, and as a staff member of the American Museum of New York and the Field Museum in Chicago. He is also a sculptor of animals and a taxidermist, and has prepared many of the largest and finest habitat groups in the world.

With this marvelous background, Mr. Albrecht is eminently qualified to tell the story behind the scenes in an entertaining and fascinating manner understood by children and adults alike.

The lecture is being given for the benefit of the Community Center Foundation and tickets may be procured either from the Foundation, Palos Park 886 or at the door.

SHOT VICTIM IMPROVING WELL

While Fred Barbara 54, and Vito Tassoni of Chicago were target shooting at the Alvin Kohl farm northeast of Frankfort last Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Barbara was shot in the abdomen.

The accident happened when Tassoni attempted to "break" the piece after a shell had failed to go off in the .22 calibre pistol, and hit Barbara. He was removed to Silver Cross hospital where Dr. W. H. Cave and Dr. Claude Otto of Frankfort operated at once. The bullet which lodged in his hip was not probed for at the time. He is doing nicely.

WILL CO. RURAL YOUTH PLAN PROGRAM FOR SOCIAL SERVICE

At its last regular meeting held April 27 at Green Garden town hall, the Will County Rural Youth organization decided to carry out a community service program which is to be developed in the near future.

The program will be sponsored jointly by the University of Illinois Agricultural extension service and the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad. Purpose of the program is to encourage a philosophy of social service among the rural young people of Illinois. It is recognized that this philosophy can only come from young people who have developed strong individual responsibilities of leadership and citizenship.

Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098

Kenneth Oetter, athletic director of the Bobzin-Swinford post 1098 of Frankfort, announces that any one interested in playing Sunday afternoon softball the team will meet this Sunday May 8 at 2 o'clock at the Frankfort diamond. This team will be made of members that were playing with the team last year and any younger boys that wish to play. This team is sort of a junior team for replacements for the Senior team sponsored by the Frankfort Fire Department.

The essay contest judges, namely Clarence Klepper, and Kenneth Oetter, met with Miss Viola Lankenau, principal of the Frankfort public school, Monday evening to pick the winners of the essay contest sponsored locally by the Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098. The local winners were picked by the judges and then sent into District Headquarters to compete with the others sent in for the state prizes offered by the Department of Illinois of the American Legion.

The Service Department of the American Legion handled successfully last year 5,187 claims presented to the Rating Boards of the Veterans Administration. The total amount paid to veterans or their dependents was $2,141,918.78. Figuring the budget of the Service Department, we have recovered $78.42 for some disabled veteran or for the family, and on the same basis it means that the original check paid to the veteran or the dependent as a result of Legion service, amounted to $412.93.

Of all the Committees or Commissions of the Department, the Poppy commission, under the Chairmanship of Frank W. Bloom, is the one that needs everybody's wholehearted support. Instead of spending money, this Commission actually spends its full time raising money for the Department. Every Legionnaire should give all-out support to the Commission this year because with the reduction of activities and personnel within the Veterans Administration and other agencies, more will be expected of the Service Department.

The American Legion in Illinois has always maintained the largest and most effective Service Department of any of the veteran organizations, and with the need for increased service clearly demonstrated it is evident that we must have a bigger poppy sale. This cannot be done without more workers and every assist given to the Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098 and its Auxiliary unit this year will be greatly appreciated. Poppy chairman for the Auxiliary this year is Mrs. Conrad Oetter. For the Post it is Kenneth Oetter. More information next week about how the Local Post and its Auxiliary unit serve the Disabled Veterans of this area.

The next regular meeting of the Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098 of Frankfort will be held in the Frankfort Village hall Monday evening, May 9, at 8:00 a.m.

AUXILIARY NEWS

Demands for Good Roads Were First Made in 90's

Back in the days of handle-bar mustaches and "bicycles built for two," the demand for good roads came from fast-wheeling bicyclists and the wheelmen's organization.

And their demand of nearly 60 years ago is still a long way from its goal. Sen. William E. Chandler of New Hampshire voiced it to a convention of the National League for Good Roads in 1893 in these words:

"We want . . . to have our highways in such repair and perfection that anyone can start with a horse and light buggy from Eastport, Me., and travel to Alaska without breaking a spoke." He said that the bicyclists and the wheelmen's organization were demanding good roads at the time because highways had been neglected as the nation sought to criss-cross the country with steel rails.

"I am very glad to learn that the railroads are not opposed to the renovation and improvement of our highways, because, indeed, the better the roads are, the better feeders the railroads will have," the Senator told the convention delegates.

Other pertinent remarks of Chandler, so timely that they might have been made today, were: "I do not think that you will find congress either indifferent or slow in doing what may be reasonably asked of it. That we need better roads is settled; the only question is the practical one. What shall we do to get them?"

Blue Goose Flight

Annual spring goose flight along the Missouri river is one of the most spectacular bird concentrations in the United States. Almost 500,000 blue and snow geese from the Gulf coast wintering grounds concentrate on the Missouri river bottoms in southwest Iowa on their three-week stopover before moving on to their Baffin island nesting grounds in the far north. The peak of the concentration usually occurs about March 15 and great flocks remain for about two weeks after this date. The birds often number 100,000 or more in individual flocks and the past few years have drawn thousands of spectators to the bottoms to see and hear them.
